In our urban environment, cities are constantly being reborn and revitalized. Urban areas possess a great amount of culture, identity and energy. We are in a unique position to examine the opportunities given in neglected waterfronts, lackluster urban zones, and changing neighborhoods. At Land Design South, we analyze the core of the urban environment from the population demographics, to transportation enhancements, to economic opportunities, to the development of gateways, municipal buildings, and exciting streetscapes. Land Design South contributes years of urban planning, land planning and streetscape enhancements. Our work stems from the vision of community leaders and public consensus building. Our strength lies in our ability to lead design charrettes and workshops in order to facilitate completed projects. Land Design South has the strategic insight to mesh our creative talents with yours to complete projects that are ultimately very unique places.
